

Rebecca Hoot Holiday Bliss Series:

Favorite Things

Hello Holiday Bliss Fiends! Are you ready to kick off the most wonderful time of the year?? I know here in the States we gear up for Thanksgiving Day and then Christmas, so it's two months of holiday bliss! This year I'm going to be trying something new. I already keep a daily journal, so for my "Holiday Journal" I will be combining both Thanksgiving and Christmas and not necessarily adding a story a day. That will happen in my daily journal?? Make Sense? So let's start November 6th with some journal entries of visual eye candy and lists to get our holiday bliss going!! Be creative this is your journal! Follow me on Instagram and Facebook and use #cwrholidaybliss when sharing your journals on social media!

Saturday, November 6: Let's create a Holiday Bucket list. What are some fun activities you hope to do this season? (printable available)

Sunday, November 7: Favorite Holiday Food. Oh YES!! Bring on the PUMPKIN PIES and Gingerbread Cookies! Is there seasonal food you like to make or eat during the holidays? Maybe include a recipe, photos and memories of past holidays.

Monday, November 8: Holiday Decorations for the year- What is your Holiday Decorating Jam? I find myself loving the red and white simplicity to bring on the pinks and aqua. Make a collage page of your favorite holiday décor.

Tuesday, November 9: Favorite Movie(s) of the Season. There are so many movies I enjoy watching ever season! All the Christmas Carols, Christmas with the Kranks and Elf are a few faves!

Wednesday, November 10: Memory Lane- Take a walk down memory lane is there traditions you have brought from your childhood into your adulthood? Make a list of some of your "Have to dos" every year. One of my traditions is Felt, sequined stockings. We had them as kids and now my kids have them.

Thursday, November 11: Crafty Projects- What Crafty projects do you hope to complete this season? I am definitely going to make a new wreath! Pull pictures from magazines or pinterst and glue in your journal.

Friday, November 12: Favorite Candy- 'Tis the season for candy, make a list of your favorites. This goes with ever season!! Reeses Trees are my all-time favorite!!

Saturday, November 13: Let's Have a Pajama Party!!!

Happy Creating, Rebecca

